

Why PEI?

There is something truly magical about the landscape of Prince Edward Island.

Convention delegates coming to Prince Edward Island are not only treated to some of the finest meeting and accommodation facilities in Atlantic Canada, but also memorable and authentic east coast experiences that can't be found anywhere else.

Delegates can indulge in PEI's culinary excellence at a distinctive island setting, like a VIP beach party with mouth-watering fresh seafood and live entertainment on the red sand shores. Nightlife offers variety and excitement with everything from harness horse racing to Island Irish pubs to live folk music in cozy clubs. Multiple locations feature the broad spectrum of Island entertainment, like the world-class theatre at the Confederation Centre of the Arts.

Tour the scenic red sand cliffs on the North Shore, the endless rolling hills in the east, and the breathtaking shoreline views that are so peaceful, it makes winding down easy. Islanders are impassioned and authentically friendly, going out of their way to make sure every moment is truly unforgettable. Prince Edward Island offers a safe, secure, and picturesque spot for teams to reconnect and dive into unforgettable adventures together.

Just 225.31 km (140 miles) in length and between 6 to 65 km (4 to 40 miles) wide, visitors will find a charming combination of rural and city life on PEI. Nestled among the shores are quaint fishing villages, full-service urban centres, and quiet rural communities. The capital city of Charlottetown has a population of approximately 50,000 people with the total population of the Island at approximately 166,000. At the height of the tourist season, more than a million visitors normally come to the province.

With our once-in-a-lifetime experiences, it's not hard to imagine why.
